LIVING TRADITION IN THE WINTER WONDERLAND AT 1,200 METERS

Atmospheric Advent markets, contemplative chapel hikes and musical delights provide variety for all those who are longingly waiting for the christ child.

knitwear and beekeeping products, hand-carved crib figures or Alpine blacksmithing can be found at the Seefeld Christmas Market. With homemade "Kiachln", tasty fried and warming mulled wine, families and friends enjoy time together. Musically, the "Klingende Bergweihnacht" with stars like the Kastelruther Spatzen (11. - 13.12.) will set the mood for the most beautiful time of the year. The Krampus parades (30.11. & 07.12.) are a scary spectacle, while Nikolaus has small presents ready for the youngest Christmas market visitors on St. Nicholas Day. The orchestral wind players and the music of the parlour, the performances of choirs, festive masses in the parish church, a specially designed tobogganing hill for small guests and much more all bring special "magic moments" with them.

Chapel hikes in the idyllic Leutaschtal valley

In the 16 km long Leutaschtal valley you can experience long forgotten customs in an impressive way. Guided chapel walks (every Friday and Saturday during Advent) with torches and lanterns take you on a hike through the twenty historical treasures of the valley and learn a lot about life as it used to be. Christmas shepherd's songs and songs round off the evening before we head for the cosy Leutascher inns, where culinary treasures from grandmother's kitchen are tasted together. In addition one meets at the Leutascher Advent market (09. and 16.12., starting from 16.00 o'clock, music pavilion Weidach).

Mösern, Reith und Scharnitz

In the smallest villages of the region, village individuality and contemplative hours get in the mood for the great festival. In Reith and Scharnitz the local choirs organise festive fairs, Krampusse fascinate with their masks and people meet at cosy Christmas markets.
